FATHER DAUGHERTY SUCCEEDS FATHER WHITNEY AS RECTOR.

Well Fitted to Follow Such an Able

Educator - Sketches of Both Men.

Rev. John D. Whitney, S. J., rector of Georgetown University, has been succeeded by Rev. Jerome Daugherty, S. J., the latter entering upon his duties today. Rumors of a change in the head of the institution have been in circulation for several days, due to the fact that the term of Rev. Father Whitney has expired, but it was not until Father Daugherty appeared at the university this morning to assume the duties to which he was ordered that it was positively known to those outside the college.

in the presidency will be made at dinner this evening at 6 o'clock. The exercises attending the matter will be simple. The attending the matter will be simple. The father rector is the only one who has a special seat reserved for his use at the table. While seated at the table the reader will promulgate the order announcing the change in the head of the institution. The retiring rector will give up his seat to his successor and the community will move on the same as if nothing had occurred.

The change was one which was ordered direct from Rome. The usual changes in the local province of the Jesuit order are generally announced on July 31, the feast generally announced on July 31, the feast of St. Ignatius Loyola. The Right Rev. Thomas I. Gannon of St. Francis Xavier College, New York city, is the provincial of the New York-Maryland province. The minor annual changes are made by him in the province, but the appointment of the rector of the Georgetown University is made from the headquarters of the society in Rome, the recommendation being made by the provincial. Being out of the ordinary channels, the change in the head of

He assumed his duties on July 3, just three years ago, and during that time made a but all over the country. The vigor which he enthused into the university was felt on all sides, and during his term of office he has made the place more popular than it ever was. The institution has flourished exceedingly well, and more improvements can be credited to his incumbency than perhaps to any other since the erection of the present commodious new building.

He was emphatically the students' presidents' dent, and the scholars of all of the various schools, particularly the classical depart-ment, were devoted to him. He knew every boy by name and had the power of making them instinctively feel that he was their friend. His office was nearly always surrounded by groups of the boys, and when out on the campus he was usually in company with some of them.

He diffused an interest in athletics that has hardly been equaled. He seemed to be one of the boys and furthered the athletic. one of the boys and furthered the athletic branch in every way. When he assumed office the game of foot ball was on the black list, but he sanctioned the game and polstered it up to its present state. Through his efforts the aquatic interests of the 'varsity were renewed after a lapse of many years.

In the university proper he made many improvements, both to the interior and exterior, and in the educational line the progress has been great, and the already high standard much improved. During the first year of his presidency the course and the many contended to three years and at law was extended to three years, and changes were inaugurated in the medical department. In keeping with his idea of enlarging the university plans were formed for the erection of separate buildings for the preparatory department and other structures to meet the demands of the growing institution.

The New Rector. The selection of Father Daugherty as rector is regarded as a very happy one and is thought to be the best that could be made. He is thoroughly acquainted with the workings of the university, having spent some years there, holding a number of different offices during the time. He is well able to take up the work left by his predecessor and push it through to completion. In addition to this he is well acquainted with many of the alumni and friends of the college and has traveled extensively. He is also eminent as a mathematician and as-more, where he was born March 25, 1849. He entered the Society of Jesus August 14, 1865. In 1872 he came from Woodstock College and taught at Georgetown. From 1885 to 1889 he was vice president of Gonzaga College, and from 1889 to 1899, with the exception of one year, was again at Georgetown, being at different times min-ister, prefect of studies and professor of rhetoric. He was vice president during the year 1893-1894, when Rev. J. Haven Richards was rector, and for six months was ards was rector, and for six months was the acting rector, when Father Richards was so ill. The year 1896-97 he was vice president of Woodstock College, and from 1899 to 1901 he was minister at Holy Cross College, Worcester, Mass. The present year he was the socius to the provincial of the local province, and traveled quite extensively. He is a man of medium height, of wiry build, with sharp eyes, brisk in movement and of a quiet disposition. He arrived at the college this morning just before lunch, pany until the end of the year, and after and shortly afterward was ready to assume the duties of his office. Troops of Eighth Cavalry Moved. Acting Adjutant General Ward is informed that Troop B of the 8th Cavalry and Troop D of the 8th Cavalry, formerly sta-rges Cognizant Marines to Point Out The Navy Department has taken no ac tion in the case of Commander Schroeder, the governor of Guam, concerning his criticism of United States marines, since Assistant Secretary Hackett wrote him about two weeks ago concerning the proclamation he had issued. This was a letter of inquiry, and it is stated on authority that nothing in the nature of a reprimand has been sent to the governor, or will be sent until he has replied to the communication. In this connection the Navy Department today gave out the following order issued by the governor, supplementing his previous order, and, in the opinion of officials, mitigating the previous reflections on the marines.

"Government House, Island of Guam, "The commandant of this station is co gratulated upon the promptness with which, in less than two days, evidence was found which apparently tends to the discovery of the perpetrators of a theft of discovery of the perpetrators of a theft of private property alluded to in naval sta-tion order No. 4. This confirms the belief that members of an honorable profession do not wish to harbor thieves in their midst.

"It must be pointed out that the first duty of the battalion, duty for which it was sent to Guam, is primarily the prorefuse to permit the reputation and privileges of all to suffer in order to screen a few criminals who do not deserve much lentency.

The authorities of the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo are making efforts to secure the presence of Count von Waldersee, the German field marshal in command The departure of Father Whitney will of the allied forces in China. A letter of inquiry was received by the German officlals here, who were unable, however, to state what Count von Waldersee's plans host of friends, not only in the District, for the future were. There have been unofficial reports from Berlin that he would make a tour of the United States in Octomove has been received. DREDGING THE CHANNEL.

Col. Allen Reports Satisfactory Progress Being Made. Col. Allen, the engineer officer in charge of the improvement of the Potomac river, reports to the War Department that satisfactory progress is being made by the contractors, the Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific Company, in dredging the Virginia channel above the Long bridge. The work continues day and night. On the 21st ultimo 8.338 cubic yards of material were dredged from the channel in twenty hours. Col. Allen says that that is the largest amount ever excavated by a single dredge in a day of twenty-four hours upon this improvement. All the dredged material was conveyed to the place of deposit on the reclaimed area through 1,250 feet of pipe and through a height of about fifteen feet above low tide.

The credged material was soft mud and the cutting was about seven feet. Referring to the work in the channel above the Long bridge, Col. Allen says: "This partly completed channel and the channel recently completed at the entrance to the Washington channel now admit of any vessel that can ascend the Potomac, reaching the wharves in Washington or Georgetown."

It is also reported that the dredging at Mattawoman rhoal is nearly completed, and that work will shortly begin at Smith's Point shoals, farther down the Potomac. These operations are under the project for dredging channels twenty-four feet deep and 200 feet wide through bars in the Po-tomac below the city of Washington, at a total cost not to exceed $176,000. The work at Mattawoman shoals has recently been confined to the removal of lumps and ridges left in the channel at the close of last was left in the channel at the close of last sea son's operations, and for the removal of the son's operations, and for the removal of the material overlying the hard bars, mostly sand, gravel and small boulders. Considerable time was lost by the contractors last month in repairing the plant, and only 16, 200 cubic yards of material were dredged during that period.
